P & H Shipyard Construction To Start

A spokesman for Jackson Landing Shipyard, Inc. said Tuesday that the new installation is expected to be under construction by the end of this month.

Charles Hill, authorized representative of the Houston-based firm, made the statement at a meeting in Port and Harbor offices when a warranty deed for a 39.4-acre tract and final payment were exchanged on the $100,000 land sale at the P&H industrial park.

Hill told the press that he wanted to stress the fact that "this transaction is a cash sale involving purchase of a portion of land in the industrial park by a group of private investors."

The shipyard, which will be developed in three phases, is the first such facility to be planned and established on the Port Bienville industrial canal. Production at the yard will involve the repair, modification and construction of all types of river and ocean-going barges.

Total construction and equipment costs for the shipyard have been estimated at $2.5 million. Hill further stated: "Construction will begin immediately on the wet dock in order to expedite handling of barge repair contracts. According to Hill, commitments have already been made for repair of 12 barges, manufacture of six chemical barges and 20 hopper type barges, with a revenue potential of more than $3.5 million, he said.

As soon as the wet dock is completed and in operation construction will begin on the marine railway to accommodate dry dock repairs. The final phase, a manufacturing facility, will be under construction within the year, Hill added.

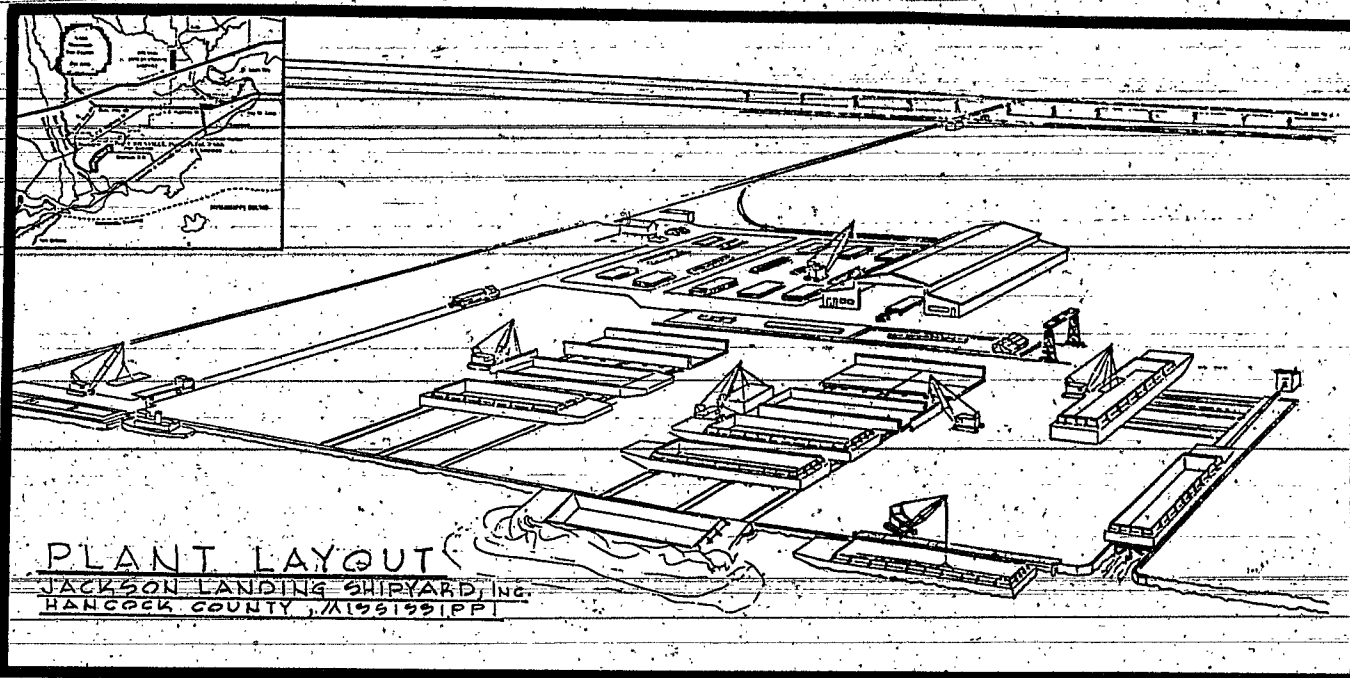

There is an increasing need for such a facility, Hill explained, to meet growing delay factors in present barge repair facilities coupled with a heavy increase in new construction requirements at existing yards.

Barges being operated in the restricted inland waterway trade are subject to damage on an almost daily basis, Hill said. Topside hull and decks are primary damage areas; however, rigging, waterline and below waterline sections are often subject to a good bit of abuse, seriously affecting seaworthiness of the barge.

Robert A. Flautt, Jr., New Orleans marine engineer and vice-president of the shipyard company, will be in charge of operations. Flautt has been affiliated with Higgins, Inc. in New Orleans and was formerly manager of ship erection for Ingalls West Bank in Pascagoula, among several other nationally known shipbuilding firms.

Hiring of skilled and unskilled labor force for construction and operation of the yard is expected to begin in the next two weeks, Hill stated. Neville Jacob of Bay St. Louis has been named director of personnel.

Until an employment and personnel office is opened at the yard, Jacob said employment applications may be directed to P. O. Box 121, Pearlarington.

Bay Men Named Outstanding Young Men Of America

Two Bay St. Louis men have been selected as Outstanding Young Men of America for 1973 and will be included in the annual biographical volume, according to Doug Blankenship, chairman of the Board of Advisors for the honorary organization.

Named for the honor were Rev. Ronald Lee Hague, and William A. Tate, Jr.

REV. RONALD HAGUE

Rev. Hague, 23-year-old minister of Music and Youth at the First Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis was born in Pearl River County, the son of a Baptist minister. He attended the University of Southern Mississippi and has held his present position in Bay St. Louis since 1970. Hague was especially chosen for his work with youth and community service. He was a coordinator and chairman of the 1972 Solid Rock Festival here, has conducted several youth revivals along the Gulf Coast and directed the youth choir PRAISE, which successfully toured three states. Hague was a member of the steering committee for the 1973 Gulf Coast Crusade for Christ and with evangelist James Robinson, visited coast schools.

WILLIAM A. TATE, JR.

William Tate is a native of Bay St. Louis and after graduation from Valena C. Jones High School, attended Gulf Coast Junior College in Jackson County for three years where he completed specialized courses in blueprint reading and schematic wiring diagrams and symbols.

Presently employed as a logistics system analyst for Litton Ship Systems in Pascagoula, Tate is well known in the community as a leader in church and youth programs. He has served as head basketball coach at St. Rose High School, he has been scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 364 since 1968 and was named Outstanding Scoutmaster, Cypress Dist. in 1969 and 1972.

He is a member of the Bay St. Louis Zoning and Planning Board, is president of St. Rose Parish Council and is a member of the Knights of Peter Claver, Court No. 6. Tate is married and is the father of two children.

Now in its ninth year, OUTSTANDING YOUNG MEN OF AMERICA is an annual biographical compilation sponsored by leading men's civic, service and professional organizations. The Awards volume features the accomplishments of approximately 7,000 young men of exceptional abilities and achievements from across the country.

Criteria for inclusion in OUTSTANDING YOUNG MEN OF AMERICA are service to others, professional excellence, business advancement, charitable activities and civic and professional recognition. The young men chosen for this distinction are between the ages of 21 and 35.

Ronald L. Zeigler, author of the introductory statement in the 1972 edition, has said of the publication, "the thousands of young Americans whose stories are told in these pages represent only a sampling of the talent that is powering this country into the Seventies...I know that to each of them this is less a book of praise—though praise it is, and well deserved—than a volume of challenge."

PRC Vo-Tech School Ready For Opening

A new era of vocational-technical training in Hancock County is ready to begin with the opening of the Pearl River Junior College Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center.

A complex of buildings costing $616,000, with an additional $200,000 worth of equipment installed, is ready for use in the vocational-technical courses to be taught through the center.

James Sones, Director of activities at the school, praised the action and cooperation of local officials, in making the center a reality.

"This will be one of the best equipped and most modern facilities of its kind in the state. There is still a lot of work to do, but we will begin operation. There is no use in making the people of this area wait any longer," Sones said in an interview last week.

M.R. White, Pearl River College, president, stated, "This center will provide the skilled manpower needed for the many area industries that are presently in operation or planning to locate in the Bay St. Louis area. When we demonstrate how we can train employees to fill their particular needs, even more will settle in this county."

The center will be available for use by juniors and seniors from Bay High and Hancock North Central, for day courses and to adults for night classes. Included in the high school portion will be two years of vocationally oriented courses, dividing up their time with the regular high school activities and those at the center.

Night classes will be scheduled as soon as the semester starts and courses can be set up. As mentioned before, programs of study will be offered that can help the greatest number of citizens of this particular area.

Initial courses offered were determined by a survey of the area. Those courses offered through the center the first semester will include: Automotive mechanics, building trades, metal trades, industrial electricity, practical nursing and welding. Adult evening classes, planned to start in September, will offer phases of auto mechanics, building trades, metal trades, industrial electricity and welding. Start-up training and extension classes will be scheduled as needed interest is shown.

The building complex composed of an Administration unit and shop units one and two, will cater to approximately 200 students per day, 100 in the morning and 100 in the afternoon. At this time facilities are available to 100 adults in the evening classes.

The 35,000 square feet of building will be officially open for the secondary students Friday, August 24. Director Sones invites the citizens of Hancock County to come by and see their vocational-technical complex any time.

VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL CENTER, long-awaited and much needed in Hancock County, will open for classes in September. An extension campus of Pearl River Junior College, the $816,000 complex is described by James Sones, director of activities for the Center, as "one of the best equipped and most modern facilities of its kind in the state." The complex is situated off Highway 603, adjacent to Stennis Field. Some final construction and ground work is yet to be done at the site, but the school will open as scheduled, Sones said.

Unit System Favored By Legislators

Seventy-five percent of the Mississippi legislators responding to a survey on county government have stated they will support county unit legislation in the 1974 legislative session.

The survey was conducted over the past several days by the Mississippi Economic Council, which has sponsored for several sessions legislation requiring the unit system for county administration.

MEC President J. C. Redd of Jackson said the survey results indicate the Mississippi Legislature "is ready to come to grips with the soaring costs of local government."

Redd said legislators were asked to respond as to whether they would or would not support legislation in 1974 providing for central purchasing, budgeting, planning, and road operations for counties. MEC has recommended the unit system, he emphasized, because it believes the unit system is more efficient than the present beat system under which most of the state's counties are operating.

The Council President added that he believes the survey reflects "the mood of the people who are demanding more economic and efficient use of tax dollars."

In the survey, Redd said, only eight percent of the legislators reported they would not support county unit legislation, with the remaining 17 percent adopting a "wait and see" attitude.

Approximately 30 percent of the members of the Legislature took part in the survey.

Noting that unit legislation has already been prefiled for the 1974 session, the Jackson businessman said the MEC "hopes county officials will adopt reform measures voluntarily."

The state chamber of commerce leader said the poll indicates the state Legislature is ready to initiate county reform in order to "assure good, solid management on the basis of financially sound principles."

"In studies from 1954 through the 1970's," Redd said, "the MEC has found the unit system to offer the best means of saving money and producing efficient road management, purchasing, and budgeting at the county level."

"We urge county officials to take the leadership roles in putting county operations and administration reforms into action," the MEC president said.

Chambers, MEC Push For County Unit System

The Mississippi Economic Council has defined its stand on adoption of the county unit system in the following manner:

County unit.

It isn't hard to say. It isn't hard to understand. And, it isn't hard to make it work.

At least, over 40 chambers of commerce in Mississippi don't think so.

As part of the Mississippi Economic Council's "Issues" program, which asks local chambers to speak out on legislative issues, more than 40 local chambers have endorsed the county unit system.

The impact means much more when you realize that thousands of business, professional, and civic leaders are members of these local chambers.

The MEC has urged county officials, through meetings and various studies, to adopt the unit system of county management to save tax dollars and to operate more efficiently and economically.

Agents Arrest Six On Narcotics Violations

Six under-20-year-olds were arrested on narcotics violations by Hancock County authorities in two separate incidents last week.

County special agents arrested three Bay St. Louis youths July 28 on narcotics charges when the car they were riding in was stopped on Washington St. for a speeding violation.

Driver of the vehicle, Mickey Crawford, 19, was charged with no operator's license and speeding. Crawford and two juvenile male companions, 18 and 17-year-olds, were each charged additionally with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia when a search of the car revealed a small quantity of cured marijuana and cigarette papers.

In a Monday night hearing before Justice of the Peace Donald Corr, Crawford pled guilty as charged. He was fined $500 for possession of marijuana, $250 for possession of paraphernalia and $20.50 for each charge of speeding and no license.

The 17-year-old juvenile was wanted by juvenile authorities at the time of his arrest and is being held in the county Youth Detention Center pending further action. The 16-year-old was released in custody of his parents and is awaiting a Youth Court hearing.

Arresting officers were Special Agents Ronald Peterson and Paul Bernard.

In an unrelated case occurring Saturday night, Peterson and Bernard arrested a Biloxi man and two Pass Christian brothers when the trio was found trespassing on private property on the Texas Flat Road, and were in possession of marijuana.

About 5 p.m. Saturday, the two special agents were investigating an empty automobile parked on the road adjacent to fenced, posted property.

Curtis Bell, operator of the bar, was arrested for gambling and for allowing gambling in a place of business. Bell had been arrested July 20 for selling beer after midnight, a violation of city ordinances.

PRC Vo-Tech School Ready For Opening

A new era of vocational-technical training in Hancock County is ready to begin with the opening of the Pearl River Junior College Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center.

A complex of buildings costing $616,000, with an additional $200,000 worth of equipment installed, is ready for use in the vocational-technical courses to be taught through the center.

M.R. White, Pearl River College, president, stated, "This center will provide the skilled manpower needed for the many area industries that are presently in operation or planning to locate in the Bay St. Louis area. When we demonstrate how we can train employees to fill their particular needs, even more will settle in this county."

The center will be available for use by juniors and seniors from Bay High and Hancock North Central, for day courses and to adults for night classes. Included in the high school portion will be two years of vocationally oriented courses, dividing up their time with the regular high school activities and those at the center.

Night classes will be scheduled as soon as the semester starts and courses can be set up. As mentioned before, programs of study will be offered that can help the greatest number of citizens of this particular area.

Initial courses offered were determined by a survey of the area. Those courses offered through the center the first semester will include: Automotive mechanics, building trades, metal trades, industrial electricity, practical nursing and welding. Adult evening classes, planned to start in September, will offer phases of auto mechanics, building trades, metal trades, industrial electricity and welding. Start-up training and extension classes will be scheduled as needed interest is shown.

The building complex composed of an Administration unit and shop units—one and two, will cater to approximately 200 students per day, 100 in the morning and 100 in the afternoon. At this time facilities are available to 100 adults in the evening classes.

The 35,000 square feet of building will be officially open for the secondary students Friday, August 24. Director Sones invites the citizens of Hancock County to come by and see their vocational-technical complex any time.

VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL CENTER, long-awaited and much needed in Hancock County, will open for classes in September. An extension campus of Pearl River Junior College, the $816,000 complex is described by James Sones, director of activities for the Center, as "one of the best equipped and most modern facilities of its kind in the state." The complex is situated off Highway 603, adjacent to Stennis Field. Some final construction and ground work is yet to be done at the site, but the school will open as scheduled, Sones said.

Agents Arrest Six On Narcotics Violations

Six under-20-year-olds were arrested on narcotics violations by Hancock County authorities in two separate incidents last week.

County special agents arrested three Bay St. Louis youths July 28 on narcotics charges when the car they were riding in was stopped on Washington St. for a speeding violation.

Driver of the vehicle, Mickey Crawford, 19, was charged with no operator's license and speeding. Crawford and two juvenile male companions, 16 and 17-years-old, were each charged additionally with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia when a search of the car revealed a small quantity of cured marijuana and cigarette papers.

In a Monday night hearing before Justice of the Peace Donald Carr, Crawford pled guilty as charged. He was fined $500 for possession of marijuana, $250 for possession of paraphernalia and $20.50 for each charge of speeding and no license.

The 17-year-old juvenile was wanted by juvenile authorities at the time of his arrest and is being held in the county Youth Detention Center pending further action. The 16-year-old was released in custody of his parents and is awaiting a Youth Court hearing.

Arresting officers were Special Agents Ronald Peterson and Paul Bernard.

In an unrelated case occurring Saturday night, Peterson and Bernard arrested a Biloxi man and two Pass Christian brothers when the trio was found trespassing on private property on the Texas Flat Road, and were in possession of marijuana.

About 5 p.m. Saturday, the two special agents were investigating an empty automobile parked on the road adjacent to fenced, posted property.

Police Arrest 14 In Gambling Raid

A group of 14 Bay St. Louis men were arrested Friday night as they were engaged in a dice game at the Cozy Corner bar on Old Spanish Trail.

Constables and sheriff's deputies raided the bar about 9 p.m. as the illegal game was in progress on a pool table in the front room.

Curtis Bell, operator of the bar, was arrested for gambling and for allowing gambling in a place of business. Bell had been arrested July 20 for selling beer after midnight, a violation of city ordinances.

Also arrested in the Friday night raid were Almont W. Ashley, 41; Charles Henderson, Jr., 39; Walter Davis, 55; Edwin Crawley, 42; Jetson Tillman, Jr., 23; George Dailey, 30 and Tyrone Benoit, 30.

Additional persons booked for gambling were Robert L. Vontour, 28; Oscar Ricks, 58; Charles Brown, 54; Lester Johnson, 49; Wilder B. McGowan, 37 and Herbert L. Daniels, 36.

Law enforcement officers taking part in the raid were Constables Sam Perniciaro and Terry Tartavouille, and Deputies A.J. Cuevas and Willie Lee.

Chambers, MEC Push For County Unit System

The Mississippi Economic Council has defined its stand on adoption of the county-unit system in the following manner:

County unit.

It isn't hard to say. It isn't hard to understand. And, it isn't hard to make it work.

At least, over 40 chambers of commerce in Mississippi don't think so.

As part of the Mississippi Economic Council's "Issues" program, which asks local chambers to speak out on legislative issues, more than 40 local chambers have endorsed the county unit system.

The impact means much more when you realize that thousands of business, professional, and civic leaders are members of these local chambers. The MEC has urged county officials, through meetings and various studies, to adopt the unit system of county management to save tax dollars and to operate more efficiently and economically.

PARALLEL PARKING on the curbing, jammed against a metal post was not what Raymond Fairconatue, driver of the above car, had in mind when he pulled into a parking place in front of the Food Discount Center last week. When the automobile's brakes failed, Fairconatue pulled sharply around to avoid crashing through the plate glass windows and clobbered into the post instead. Despite his efforts, a section of glass was broken when the car hit a metal railing. Fairconatue, a Bay-St. Louis resident, was cited by Asst. Police Chief Douglas Williams for inflicting property damage.

PRC Expands In Poplarville And Bay St. Louis

Construction, renovation, and planning have taken the spotlight on the Pearl River Junior College campus during the summer of 1973. A building program of two million dollars is in effect or projected for the Poplarville campus alone.

The Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center in Bay St. Louis, at a cost of $750,000 will be in operation by late August. Other plans include the projected development of a Health Occupation Center in Hattiesburg.

Actual construction work at the Poplarville campus includes the construction of a Fine Arts complex at $555,000. This includes band and choral rooms, of which has been completed, and the renovation of Moody Hall. The three-story building will house the PRC liberal arts program. Included in this building will be curriculum in speech, art, drama, and music. A plush auditorium, capable of seating

24-Hour Help Offered By Coalition

Beginning this month, the 24-Hour Telephone Line, operated by the Gulf Coast Coalition for Life, will furnish free counseling to those women faced with unwanted pregnancies. During the past month the Coalition has been mobilizing a public relations bureau that would offer alternatives to women considering an abortion, such as providing information on adoption agencies and financial assistance programs.

During its upcoming meeting the pro-life committee hopes to finalize plans for its advertising campaign. The committee has already approved the blueprint for its brochure, which will extend a sympathetic approach to distressed pregnant women, and reveal the physical and mental problems involved in an abortion. The area Christian Youth Organization will publish the brochure.

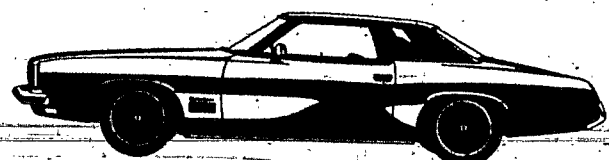

The next meeting, open to the public, will be held Thursday, August 2 at Keesler Air Force Base, Chapel One, at 7:30 P.M. Dr. Donald Grillo will preside.

Hinds County Praised For Drop

In a statement issued today by the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission, Robert O. Rasch, president, stated, "MCCC joins with the majority of the concerned voters and taxpayers in Mississippi in commending the Hinds County Board of Supervisors in their recent dramatic withdrawal from the Mississippi Association of Supervisors."

"The citizens of Hinds County should be justifiably proud of the integrity and character of their supervisors in taking this forthright and courageous action. We would like to be able to anticipate that other Boards of Supervisors will demonstrate their disenchantment with the past policies, direction and mismanagement of this highly politically motivated Association."

Rasch said, "The Crime Commission feels that a State Association of Supervisors could be highly beneficial to the citizens of Mississippi if it could be completely removed from the political arena and operated on a truly professional basis. This would require professional administration and should be totally directed to fiscal and physical efficiency in county governments. The most significant ingredient, of course, would be the supervisors' selfless sacrifice of their now questionable political power."

"The Harrison County Board of Supervisors", continued Rasch, "are also to be highly commended for their intelligent approach toward the implementation of the centralized administration of county government by requesting a feasibility study to be conducted by the Mississippi Research and Development Center. MCCC earnestly hopes that this study will be initiated and completed in the very near future and will result in the early implementation of a sound and complete administrative Unit System for Harrison County."

Police Report

Bay St. Louis police answered 42 calls in the period of July 26 through August 1.

Minor damage was inflicted to glass panels at the Food Discount Center on South Second street July 26 when brakes failed on an automobile, driven by Raymond B. Fairconatue of Bay St. Louis. There were no injuries from the freak accident and minor damage to the 1965 Chevrolet. Fairconatue was cited for causing property damage by investigating officers Asst. Chief Douglas Williams and Aux. Ptn. Clifton Roberts.

A two-car collision resulted about 10 a.m. the same day at the intersection of Dunbar Ave. and Highway 90, when a GMC truck and trailer, driven by Emory Hamilton, Tampa, Fla., failed to stop for a traffic signal and collided with the rear of a 1962 Chevrolet, driven by Clarence F. Rayes, Chalmette, La. Ptn. Alvin Favre investigated.

Mobile Home Owners Warned To Tie-Down

With the hurricane season upon us, the Hancock County chapter of the American Red Cross urges all mobile home owners located in the Coastal area to "tie-down" for safety's sake, to protect lives and property.

According to the local chapter, storm statistics show that nearly 5,000 mobile homes are damaged or destroyed by high winds each year. More and more

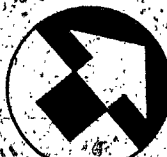

Americans are opting for mobile home housing which raises the percentage of such dwellings hit by high winds. "Tie-down" is the accepted method of securely anchoring mobile homes to prevent them from being rolled or pushed over by winds. Many insurance companies are now refusing to insure mobile homes unless they are adequately anchored in this manner, said the spokesman.

Specific information on tie-down procedures for mobile homes is included in a brochure, "Protecting Mobile Homes From High Winds," which may be obtained from local civil defense offices or by writing to: U.S. Army AG Publications Center, Civil Defense Branch, 2800 Eastern Boulevard (Middle River), Baltimore, Md. 21220. The Mobile Home Living Communications Center, P.O. Box 3431, Chicago, Illinois 60654, also publishes a helpful brochure on mobile home tie-downs.

Governor Refuses 'Office In Ladies Restroom'

Governor Bill Waller last week issued an appeal to the people of Mississippi to help keep the Governor's office in the State Capitol.

The Governor said the Joint Legislative Committee who assigned space in the Capitol had pretty well removed any chance that a modern efficient Governor's office can be maintained in the State Capitol.

Waller reported part of the office space allocated to his office was formerly used as a ladies toilet and dressing room. "The Capitol is large enough for the Governor to have enough room to carry out duties 365 days per year, administering dozens of programs costing millions of dollars and benefiting most all our people in Mississippi," said Waller.

Space assigned by the Legislative Committee is split on three floors according to Waller and "is inadequate in size and shape to be used for basic needs."

Waller said he would "Absolutely refuse to move to the ladies restroom."

Members of the Joint Legislative Committee include: Rep. George Payne Cossar, House Speaker John Junkin, Rep. Bill Wilkerson, Rep. Jim Sumner, Rep. Tommy Campbell, Sen. Perrin Purvis, Sen. Ben Stone, Sen. Buddy Gresham, Sen. Buffy Beach, and Senate President Pro Tem Bob Perry who served as Chairman.

Waller said, "I am not waging this fight for office space for myself as Governor because it should be clear to every Mississippian that my term as Governor will be completed before the Capitol can be renovated."

Coalition For Life Is Formed

Concerned citizens and community leaders on the Gulf Coast are planning an educational program which will involve private counseling, public lectures and a 24-hour telephone service line.

The Gulf Coast Coalition for Life was organized to promote a greater respect for human life and to educate the public to the dangers of abortion.

Dr. Donald Grillo, Coalition president, hopes the campaign will help avert some of the nearly one and a half million abortions that the American Medical Association expects during the coming year.

The Coalition will offer alternative answers to abortion to people facing unexpected, or unwanted pregnancies.

Much of the money donated to the Coalition for Life will go into an advertising campaign which will include billboards, radio, television and newspaper coverage.

The 24-hour phone service will be staffed by volunteers from along the Coast. The volunteers will go through a training period and the program will be in effect August 1st of this year.

High Schoolers 'Upward Bound' At Jax State

The Upward Bound Program at Jackson State College began its second year of operation in June, 1973.

Fifty-eight 11th and 12th grade Upward Bound students reported on campus June 17, for six weeks of concentrated studying in science, math, social studies, English, reading, dramatic arts, library and study skills and physical education. Also offered are courses in sex education, drug abuse and charm. A great emphasis is placed on career education.

The program provides for a complete physical examination of all the student participants. When students are found who have medical or dental deficiencies which significantly affect their performance as Upward Bound students, the deficiencies are promptly treated.

All Upward Bound students are housed on campus during the summer phase of the program with access to every campus facility that is afforded regular college students.

The educational goals of Upward Bound are to help the student to develop critical thinking, effective expression, and positive attitudes toward learning while creating a climate for the student to become excited about learning.

Our Readers Write

Dear Sir:

Your editorial on courtroom air conditioning and your front page news story on electrical problems at the Courthouse have been read with interest (Issue of July 26, 1973). The two are not unrelated. Possibly you and your readers would be interested in further information on these two matters.

For you to say that the board of supervisors has been "stubborn" and "refused to air condition the cavernous circuit courtroom" is contrary to the facts. In early March of this year the supervisors made a policy decision to air-condition the courtroom and instructed the Sheriff (as custodian of the building) to investigate the best and most practical method.

After discussion with several local air-conditioning contractors, the Sheriff concluded and reported to the Supervisors that window units or free-standing commercial units standing around the walls of the room could not do a satisfactory job. The size of the room (70,000 cubic feet - equivalent to 8 average houses), the lack of insulation, poor lighting, and bad acoustics further complicated the problem.

In late March the supervisors asked the writer for an engineering report and cost estimate to properly and adequately air-condition the courtroom and several of the adjacent offices and jury spaces.

The writer and Mr. W. R. Pitcairn, a local consulting mechanical engineer, made the investigation and presented a written report to the supervisors dated May 4, 1973. The report proposed not only air-conditioning but acoustic and lighting solutions, and also major updating of the electrical service and distribution and certain provisions for future air-conditioning and lighting on the first floor of the building. The supervisors considered this proposal and budget and became aware that there were sufficient reasons to consider installing central air-conditioning for the ground floor at the same time. Such a move would remove the inefficient and unsightly multitude of window units which over the years had made a hodgepodge of the electrical arrangement in the building.

In mid-May the supervisors asked for an engineering report and cost estimate to provide central air conditioning for the ground floor offices and other public spaces. This report was presented to the Board on May 29, 1973. At the June 5, 1973 meeting of the Board official action was taken to authorize preparation of detailed architectural and engineering plans and specifications for the entire project. Since that date the plans and specifications have been in preparation and were nearly complete when a short circuit in the service entrance switch occurred on July 24 causing total power loss to the building.

The writer was aware of certain defects in the main service equipment. These defects were to be corrected in the proposed project by installation of all new equipment. Because it was probable that other defects existed, an experienced consulting electrical engineer was called from Gulfport within hours of the failure and other defects were noted in various switches and panels in other parts of the building. A written report of his investigation has been received.

At the next regular meeting it will be recommended to the Board that additional electrical modifications be made to overcome the newly discovered safety hazards. These will cost more money and they will require bidding documents which will take additional time.

When all this work is accomplished it will still not make the building completely fire-safe, nor will it make it in compliance with the "code". The building is old and its very method of construction precludes its ever complying with all the provisions of the "code". But it is a good building and it is well constructed, and it is structurally sound. And it is one of our few public buildings of good design quality in the classic tradition.

We cannot abandon such a usable building just because it is old. We can and should make improvements and upgrade such a building in stages and in proportion to our ability to pay to do each step carefully. The first such step was taken when the roof and metal work were properly replaced after Camille. The protection of the exterior walls from moisture penetration and deterioration followed. The current project is the next logical step in the restoration and preservation of this fine old structure.

I am certainly not in agreement with everything my elected public officials do, but in this case it is my professional and personal opinion that our Board of supervisors has acted prudently and in the best public interest.

Sincerely,
Fred Wagner, Architect
P. S. Maybe I think so because they have acted on my recommendations.

Dear Sir:

We of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society, Inc., would like to thank you for your kindness and thoughtfulness always extended to us when we request the essential publicity our society must have to survive.

Mrs. Inez Favre is a delight to contact, no effort is too great for her to offer us assistance. The staff in your office treats us with courtesy and are so willing to please. When we needed a refrigerator some months ago, we asked for a write-up, we received it and also the refrigerator which is in use and deeply appreciated. Next, it was typewriters, two were absolutely necessary for us to carry on our never ending work from two locations. The appeal was printed and we have our typewriters. As an added gift, Mr. & Mrs. R.E. Johnson of 302 De Montuzin Street in Bay St. Louis, donated a beautiful table and chair set which we have carefully stored for our hoped-for and longed-for animal shelter that we pray we can some day build in the County of Hancock. We need it!!! This set has given us an incentive to work harder for the day when that shelter will be a reality, it is a tangible symbol of our goal.

We are very grateful to The Sea Coast Echo for lending us a helping hand.

Sincerely,
Mrs. James McFie Secretary
Bay-Waveland Humane Society, Inc.

Dear Sir:

The Coast Crime Commission recently stated that Law Enforcement agencies are losing the narcotics war here on the Gulf Coast. It would seem that the courts have joined the battle on the side of narcotics.

Our law enforcement agents arrest the pushers and supply the evidence; the Grand Jurors indict; the District Attorney wins a conviction. The criminal is sentenced to "non-reportable", probation and released.

Grand Jurors appear to be a waste of time and taxpayer's money, serving only as "Inspectors General" of county facilities. They return true bills, the criminals are convicted by petit juries and receive a slap on the wrist before being returned to the street with "business as usual".

I wonder how the arresting officers and members of the juries feel when killers and dope pushers are released with no more than token sentences.

Perhaps, the name should be changed from "Circuit Court" to "Circus Court".

Would the court system, as it exists today on the Gulf Coast, survive an in-depth investigation by a State or Federal Grand Jury?

Gentlemen,

Kindly find enclosed a letter to the editor entitled "Kindness Needed," which is self-explanatory and taken from the "Daily Herald" of July 19.

Arresting an outstanding citizen at the age of 85 who lives here on our beautiful Coast. Who went fishing and forgot his permit, and was fishing with a pole and line, not a rod and reel, seems to many people who live here, a diabolical thing to do.

Can something be done to eliminate such an act to any of our old Citizens? At the age of 85 they often forget, Game & Fish Commission please act.

Respectfully,
A. C. Mercier

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

The soybean, with its 44 per cent protein content, is at the base of the world's high quality food pyramid.

It also is at the base of this country's alarming shortage of poultry and meat, for without it the chickens and the hogs and the cattle cannot be properly fed. If they are not properly fed, naturally they will never reach the meatcutter - or the consumer.

Crushed into soybean meal, the soybean is the main component of animal feed used to produce red meat, poultry, eggs and dairy products. Lack of available feed alternatives has put a special premium on soybeans this last year.

Foreign demand caused much of the problem, accounting in large measure for the fact that prices of soybeans and soybean meal have more than tripled in the last 12 months. It goes without saying that, when soybean prices tripled, other feed prices soared.

The Agriculture Department predicted a precariously tight supply of soybeans in September before the next harvest. Agriculture officials are predicting a record 1.5 billion bushel harvest beginning in October, but a late harvest could lead to actual and potential shortages of animal feed.

Farmers, faced with the amounting cost of feed, are slaughtering livestock rather than saving them for breeding. They are killing baby chicks because the soaring feed prices have made it unprofitable to keep feeding animals with retail price ceilings in effect.

There is one of the real tragedies of this scenario, for such slaughtering would seriously affect the 1974 meat supply if it continues.

Our Readers Write

Dear Sir:

When, oh, when will our people ever wake up, to the under cover tactics of our present unelected rulers; the elite "guys-and-dolls" hiding their true identities, using the letters of our old Alphabet, such as H.U.D., H.E.W. Now a new one, O.S.H.A. meaning Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

No wonder old Stalin, proclaimed, that "this country could easily capture our Nation without firing a shot," no military invasion; we would fall like ripe fruit into their hands. Believe (sic) me we are going that route now. Our National, State and Local Soviets, highly paid, are using devious ways and means of camouflage, pseudo acts of do goodism, yet there are so few of us that see thru it all. O.S.H.A.'s costly vice like requirements, will increase the cost of doing business, and result in higher prices for the consumer, or, if a price increase is prohibited by the Nixon Wage and Price Controls, they will simply force many Businessmen and Businesswomen to close their doors forever, causing widespread, unemployment, due to loss of jobs.

O.S.H.A. wants to play God; it business people wish to learn more about O.S.H.A. I have more detail information in leaflet form, I shall give free to those who are concerned.

Thanking you for publication.
Mrs. Eleanor Everett McFie,
Waveland, Miss.

Not to let the issue die a premature death, the United Egg Producers have urged a congressional investigation into whether five or six major U.S. grain dealers drove up feed grain prices and, thus, food prices.

The egg group maintains that earnings of the major grain dealers shot up 15 to 83 per cent while feed grain prices catapulted 300 per cent.

The arguments are endless, but the inevitable conclusion always points an accusing finger at the soybean.

The 60-day price freeze, scheduled to expire Aug. 12 in the wake of Phase IV controls, also plays a role in the soybean-meat-chicken chain of events. The freeze, for example, virtually locked in prices chicken producers can receive for their product while permitting the cost of feed - a raw agricultural product exempt from the price ceiling - to continue to rise.

At the present price of feed, it costs about 47 cents to produce a pound of broiler chicken. But the producers can get only 39 to 41 cents a pound for chicken under the retail price freeze - which means they are operating at a built-in 13-17 per cent loss rate.

Hopefully, Phase IV - which allows an immediate pass-through for the price of chickens - will help to resolve this problem and prevent a shortage next year.

Again, the reason that feed costs are so critical is that feed - generally soybeans and corn for chickens - constitutes 60 to 70 per cent of producing a chicken for market.

While it is true that we are expecting a record harvest of soybeans due to additional planting by cotton farmers whose cotton crops were nullified by the spring floods, it must be remembered that those soybeans will not be harvested until October. The supply through September is generally known to be limited.

It seems incredible, but the soybean - or the lack of soybeans - virtually controls and entire picture of grains, feed, meat, and poultry.

Let's take a trip. Not in a flashy automobile in modern times, but on the hard seats of an L&N train at the turn of the century. Our information about this trip comes from a most interesting old book called "Along the Gulf", published in the late '90's and reprinted just last year by the ladies of Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian.

We began this trip by assembling our party at the Hotel Grunewald, a new and ultra-modern hostelry at Baronne and Canal streets in New Orleans, towering six floors in height, with a bar of carved oak and the only roof garden in the city, where a band played every evening and the floor was covered with white shells.

The party left early in May, presumably about 1885 or '86, on the regular L&N morning train from the New Orleans depot. It sped past the settlements of Lee and Michoud and soon reached Chef Menteur, a fishing village on the strait between Lakes Borgne and Pontchartrain, where the travelers had a sumptuous fish breakfast. Then on to English Lookout at the mouth of the Pearl River, where some of the passengers transferred to a small steamer to take them up the river to Gainesville, Columbia, Pearlton and other small settlements. Crossing the river, we then sped on through the wooded country, and soon halted at the station at Waveland.

This was a quiet, summer-resort village, which boasted several fine homes on the waterfront, including the residence of the famed Eliza J. Nicholson, the "Pearl Rivers" of literary fame, and the only store in town, the general merchandise mart of J.B. Ulman, across the L&N tracks from the old woolen mill. There is also the "princely estate" of Mr. John R. Fell, which includes a "fish pond", so large that a skiff must be used to cross it. Nearer Bay St. Louis and only five minutes drive from Waveland station is the vine-covered cottage of the Mayor of Waveland, Mr. L.H. Fairchild, who commutes daily to New Orleans, where he is head of the well-known brokerage firm of Fairchild & Hobson.

There are a number of other comfortable summer residences on and near the beach, but the most notable is Fort Nicholson, the home of the celebrated "Pearl Rivers", Mrs. George Nicholson, proprietor of the Picayune. Born Eliza Poltevent, she became the first newspaper woman in the South, married the Picayune's owner, and when he died, inherited the newspaper and the job of editor. After a financial struggle, she put the Picayune on its feet and later married a trusted aide, George Nicholson. They built Fort Nicholson on the beach near Nicholson avenue and furnished it sumptuously.

After a peaceful night in which the soothing wind and the clip-clop of a horse on the road were the only sounds, the party took to the train again, and after a fifteen minute ride alighted at the best known of the coastal villages, Bay St. Louis, where it was met by several prominent citizens and driven to the comfortable Reid Hotel for a four-day stay.

Q - As a veteran is it possible for me to get a physical examination at a VA hospital?

A - Under regulations, VA hospitals are not permitted to conduct such examinations for that purpose only. If you can meet eligibility requirements, you could receive a physical to determine the need for hospitalization or treatment.

Q - Can you tell me how many Spanish-American war veterans are alive and what is their average age?

A - There are less than 2,000 living Spanish-American war veterans out of the original 392,000 participants in the conflict that ended in 1902. Their average age is 83.3 years, according to VA.

Social Security Figures Revealed For County

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Hancock county at a rate of $310,000 a month at the close of 1972, Walter H. Hobbs, social security manager in Gulfport, said today.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Hancock county, 1451 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 608 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 478 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Hobbs pointed out that although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60. In Hancock county, 791 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. Nearly 420 are under age 18, receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits.

Most of the 62 beneficiaries in Hancock county between 18 and 22 years of age, are getting student's benefits under a provision in the social security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

Also in this 18-22 age group, Hobbs said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that the social security program provides workers of all ages. Some are children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 22 and who will probably never be able to work and become self-supporting.

The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to the mother if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care. Hobbs said that another relatively small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving benefits as disabled workers.

LATE GRAIN SORGHUM

The best advice on whether or not to plant grain sorghum at this late date is, "Don't do it."

There are several disadvantages to planting this late and few, if any advantages.

Yields are reduced - only 2,000 to 2,500 pounds per acre should be expected, although extra good September weather could result in higher yield.

Getting a stand may be a problem because of dry soil. Stands are likely to be unevenly aged, making insect control more of a problem. Midge control is more difficult on late planting grain sorghum than on early planted. Corn earworms and sorghum webworm are likely to be bigger problems on late planted sorghum.

SOYBEAN INSECT CONTROL

With lots more soybeans planted this year and less cotton, bollworms are likely to move into soybean fields. These worms can be a big problem as they feed on young immature pods.

Keep a close watch on soybeans and if the worms do show up in damaging numbers, apply a recommended insecticide. In soybeans, the cotton bollworm becomes the soybean podworm.

HOME GARDENING

Sometimes it is difficult to get a stand of vegetables planted in dry soil. Here is a trick that can help get the plants up and growing. Open the seed drill about twice as deep as you would for spring planting. Fill the drill with water and let it soak in. Plant the seed. Cover with dry soil and firm with the back of hoe. Do not water again until the plants are up.

Fire Protection and Long-Range Planning. Our lack of a county building code is costing us points in these categories.

Our lowest score, and one in which we can show little improvement until we adopt the "United System of county management, is in the area of public works, in which we scored 105 points; 750 points are necessary to qualify for an award.

Our Readers Write

Dear Sir:

Your editorial on courtroom air conditioning and your front page news story on electrical problems at the Courthouse have been read with interest (Issue of July 28, 1973). The two are not unrelated. Possibly you and your readers would be interested in further information on these two matters.

For you to say that the board of supervisors has been "stubborn" and "refused to air condition the cavernous circuit courtroom" is contrary to the facts. In early March of this year the supervisors made a policy decision to air-condition the courtroom and instructed the Sheriff (as custodian of the building) to investigate the best and most practical method.

After discussion with several local air-conditioning contractors, the Sheriff concluded and reported to the Supervisors that window units or free-standing commercial units standing around the walls of the room could not do a satisfactory job. The size of the room (70,000 cubic feet - equivalent to 8 average houses), the lack of insulation, poor lighting, and bad acoustics further complicated the problem.

In late March the supervisors asked the writer for an engineering report and cost estimate to properly and adequately air-condition the courtroom and several of the adjacent offices and jury spaces.

The writer and Mr. W. R. Pitcairn, a local consulting mechanical engineer, made the investigation and presented a written report to the supervisors dated May 4, 1973. The report proposed not only air-conditioning but acoustic and lighting solutions, and also major updating of the electrical service and distribution and certain provisions for future air-conditioning and lighting on the first floor of the building. The supervisors considered this proposal and budget and became aware that there were sufficient reasons to consider installing central air-conditioning for the ground floor at the same time. Such a move would remove the inefficient and unsightly multitude of window units which over the years had made a hodgepodge of the electrical arrangement in the building.

In mid-May the supervisors asked for an engineering report and cost estimate to provide central air conditioning for the ground floor offices and other public spaces. This report was presented to the Board on May 29, 1973. At the June 5, 1973 meeting of the Board official action was taken to authorize preparation of detailed architectural and engineering plans and specifications for the entire project. Since that date the plans and specifications have been in preparation and were nearly complete when a short circuit in the service entrance switch occurred on July 24 causing total power loss to the building.

The writer was aware of certain defects in the main service equipment. These defects were to be corrected in the proposed project by installation of all new equipment. Because it was probable that other defects existed, an experienced consulting electrical engineer was called from Gulfport within hours of the failure and other defects were noted in various switches and panels in other parts of the building. A written report of his investigation has been received.

At the next regular meeting it will be recommended to the Board that additional electrical modifications be made to overcome the newly discovered safety hazards. These will cost more money and they will require bidding documents which will take additional time.

When all this work is accomplished it will still not make the building completely fire-safe, nor will it make it in compliance with the "code". The building is old and its very method of construction precludes its ever complying with all the provisions of the "code". But it is a good building and it is well constructed, and it is structurally sound. And it is one of our few public buildings of good design quality in the classic tradition.

We cannot abandon such a usable building just because it is old. We can and should make improvements and upgrade such a building in stages and in proportion to our ability to pay to do each step carefully. The first such step was taken when the roof and metal work were properly replaced after Camille. The protection of the exterior walls from moisture penetration and deterioration followed. The current project is the next logical step in the restoration and preservation of this fine old structure.

I am certainly not in agreement with everything my elected public officials do, but in this case it is my professional and personal opinion that our Board of supervisors has acted prudently and in the best public interest.

Sincerely,
Fred Wagner, Architect
P. S. - Maybe I think so because they have acted on my recommendations.

Dear Sir:

We of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society, Inc., would like to thank you for your kindness and thoughtfulness always extended to us when we request the essential publicity our society must have to survive.

Mrs. Inez Favre is a delight to contact, no effort is too great for her to offer us assistance. The staff in your office treats us with courtesy and are so willing to please. When we needed a refrigerator - some months ago - we asked for a write-up, we received it and also the refrigerator which is in use and deeply appreciated. Next, it was typewriters, two were absolutely necessary for us to carry on our never ending work from two locations. The appeal was printed and we have our typewriters. As an added gift, Mr. & Mrs. R.E. Johnson of 302 De Montluzin Street in Bay St. Louis, donated a beautiful table and chair set which we have carefully stored for our hoped-for and longed-for animal shelter that we pray we can some day build in the County of Hancock. We need it!!! This set has given us an incentive to work harder for the day when that shelter will be a reality. It is a tangible symbol of our goal.

We are very grateful to The Sea Coast Echo for lending us a helping hand.

Sincerely,
Mrs. James McFie, Secretary
Bay-Waveland Humane Society, Inc.

Dear Sir:

The Coast-Crime Commission recently stated that Law Enforcement agencies are losing the narcotics war here on the Gulf Coast. It would seem that the courts have joined the battle on the side of narcotics.

Our law enforcement agents arrest the pushers and supply the evidence, the Grand Jurors indict, the District Attorney wins a conviction. The criminal is sentenced to "non-reportable" probation and released.

Grand Juries appear to be a waste of time and taxpayer's money, serving only as "Inspectors General" of county facilities. They return true bills; the criminals are convicted by petit juries and receive a slap on the wrist before being returned to the street with "business as usual".

I wonder how the arresting officers and members of the "juries" feel when killers and dope pushers are released with no more than token sentences. Perhaps, the name should be changed from "Circuit Court" to "Circus Court".

Would the court system, as it exists today on the Gulf Coast, survive an in-depth investigation by a State or Federal Grand Jury?

Gentlemen,

Kindly find enclosed a letter to the editor entitled "Kindness Needed," which is self explanatory and taken from the "Daily Herald" of July 19.

Arresting an outstanding citizen at the age of 85 who lives here on our beautiful Coast. Who went fishing and forgot his permit, and was fishing with a pole and line, not a rod and reel, seems to many people who live here, a diabolical thing to do.

Can something be done to eliminate such an act to any of our old Citizens? At the age of 85 they often forget. Game & Fish Commission please act.

Respectfully,
A. C. Mercier

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

The soybean, with its 44 per cent protein content, is at the base of the world's high quality food pyramid.

It also is at the base of this country's alarming shortage of poultry and meat, for without it the chickens and the hogs and the cattle cannot be properly fed. If they are not properly fed, naturally they will never reach the meat cutter or the consumer.

Crushed into soybean meal, the soybean is the main component of animal feed used to produce red meat, poultry, eggs and dairy products. Lack of available feed alternatives has put a special premium on soybeans this last year.

Foreign demand caused much of the problem, accounting in large measure for the fact that prices of soybeans and soybean meal have more than tripled in the last 12 months. It goes without saying that, when soybean prices tripled, other feed prices soared.

The Agriculture Department predicted a precariously tight supply of soybeans in September before the next harvest. Agriculture officials are predicting a record 1.5 billion bushel harvest beginning in October, but a late harvest could lead to actual and potential shortages of animal feed.

Farmers, faced with the amounting cost of feed, are slaughtering livestock rather than saving them for breeding. They are killing baby chicks because the soaring feed prices have made it unprofitable to keep feeding animals with retail price ceilings in effect. There is one of the real tragedies of this scenario, for such slaughtering would seriously affect the 1974 meat supply if it continues.

When, oh, when will our people ever wake up, to the under cover tactics of our present unelected rulers; the elite "guys-and-dolls", hiding their true identities, using the letters of our old Alphabet, such as H.U.D. - H.E.W. - Now a new one, O.S.H.A. meaning Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

No wonder old Stalin, proclaimed, that "his country could easily capture, our Nation without firing a shot," no military invasion; we would fall like ripe fruit into their hands". Believe (sic) me we are going that route now. Our National, State and Local Soviets, highly paid, are using devious ways and means of camouflage, pseudo acts of do-goodism, yet there are so few of us that see thru it all. O.S.H.A.'s costly vice like, requirements, will increase the cost of doing business, and result in higher prices for the consumer, or, if a price increase is prohibited by the Nixon Wage and Price Controls, they will simply force many Businessmen and Businesswomen to close their doors forever, causing widespread, unemployment, due to loss of jobs.

Not to let the issue die a premature death, the United Egg Producers have urged a congressional investigation into whether five or six major U.S. grain dealers drove up feed grain prices and, thus, food prices.

The egg group maintains that earnings of the major grain dealers shot up 15 to 63 per cent while feed grain prices catapulted 300 per cent.

The arguments are endless, but the inevitable conclusion always points an accusing finger at the soybean.

The 60-day price freeze, scheduled to expire Aug. 12 in the wake of Phase IV controls, plays a significant role in the soybean-meat-chicken chain of events. The freeze, for example, virtually locked in prices chicken producers can receive for their product while permitting the cost of feed - a raw agricultural product exempt from the price ceiling - to continue to rise.

At the present price of feed, it costs about 47 cents to produce a pound of broiler chicken. But the producers can get only 39 to 41 cents a pound for chicken under the retail price freeze - which means they are operating at a built-in 13-17 per cent loss rate.

Hopefully, Phase IV - which allows an immediate pass-through for the price of chickens - will help to resolve this problem and prevent a shortage next year.

Again, the reason that feed costs are so critical is that feed - generally soybeans - and corn for chickens - constitutes 80 to 70 per cent of producing a chicken for market.

While it is true that we are expecting a record harvest of soybeans due to additional planting by cotton farmers whose cotton crops were nullified by the spring floods, it must be remembered that those soybeans will not be harvested until October. The supply through September is generally known to be limited.

It seems incredible, but the soybean - or the lack of soybeans - virtually controls and entire picture of grains, feed, meat, and poultry.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

Let's take a trip. Not in a flashy automobile in modern times, but on the hard seats of an L&N train at the turn of the century. Our information about this trip comes from a most interesting old book called "Along the Gulf", published in the late '90's and reprinted just last year by the ladies of Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian.

We began this trip by assembling our party at the Hotel Grunewald, a new and ultra-modern hostelry at Baronne and Canal streets in New Orleans, towering six floors in height, with a bar of carved oak and the only roof garden in the city, where a band played every evening and the floor was covered with white shells.

The party left early in May, presumably about 1895 or '96, on the regular L&N morning train from the New Orleans depot. It sped past the settlements of Lee and Michoud and soon reached Chef Menteur, a fishing village on the strait between Lakes Borgne and Pontchartrain, where the travelers had a sumptuous fish breakfast. Then on to English Lookout at the mouth of the Pearl rivers, where some of the passengers transferred to a small steamer to take them up the river to Galesville, Columbia, Pearlinton and other small settlements. Crossing the river, we then sped on through the wooded country, and soon halted at the station at Waveland.

This was a quiet, summer-resort village which boasted several fine homes on the waterfront, including the residence of the famed Eliza J. Nicholson, the "Pearl Rivers" of literary fame, and the only store in town, the general merchandise mart of J.B. Ulman, across the L&N tracks from the old woolen mill. There is also the "princely estate" of Mr. John R. Fell, which includes a "fish pond", so large that a skiff must be used to cross it. Nearer Bay St. Louis and only five minutes drive from Waveland station is the vine-covered cottage of the Mayor of Waveland, Mr. L.H. Fairchild, who commutes daily to New Orleans, where he is head of the well-known brokerage firm of Fairchild & Hobson.

There are a number of other comfortable summer residences on and near the beach, but the most notable is Fort Nicholson, the home of the celebrated "Pearl Rivers", Mrs. George Nicholson, proprietor of the Picayune. Born Eliza Poitevent, she became the first newspaper woman in the South, married the Picayune's owner, and when he died, inherited the newspaper and the job of editor. After a financial struggle, she put the Picayune on its feet and later married a trusted aide, George Nicholson. They built Fort Nicholson on the beach near Nicholson avenue and furnished it sumptuously.

After a peaceful night in which the soothing wind and the clip-clop of a horse on the road were the only sounds, the party took to the train again, and after a fifteen minute ride alighted at the best known of the coastal villages, Bay St. Louis, where it was met by several prominent citizens and driven to the comfortable Reid Hotel for a four-day stay.

Q - As a veteran is it possible for me to get a physical examination at a VA hospital?

A - Under regulations, VA hospitals are not permitted to conduct such examinations for that purpose only. If you can meet eligibility requirements, you could receive a physical to determine the need for hospitalization or treatment.

Q - Can you tell me how many Spanish-American war veterans are alive and what is their average age?

A - There are less than 2,000 living Spanish-American war veterans out of the original 392,000 participants in the conflict that ended in 1902. Their average age is 93.3 years, according to VA.

Social Security Figures Revealed For County

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Hancock county at a rate of $310,000 a month at the close of 1972, Walter H. Hobbs, social security manager in Gulfport, said today.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Hancock county, 1451 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 608 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 478 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Hobbs pointed out that although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60. In Hancock county, 791 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. Nearly 420 are under age 18, receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits.

Most of the 62 beneficiaries in Hancock county between 18 and 22 years of age, are getting student's benefits under a provision in the social security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

Also in this 18-22 age group, Hobbs said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that the social security program provides workers of all ages. Some are children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 22 and who will probably never be able to work and become self-supporting.

The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to the mother if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care. Hobbs said that another relatively small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving benefits as disabled workers.

LATE GRAIN SORGHUM
The best advice on whether or not to plant grain sorghum at this late date is, "Don't do it."

There are several disadvantages to planting this late and few, if any advantages.

Yields are reduced - only 2,000 to 2,500 pounds per acre should be expected, although extra good September weather could result in higher yield.

Getting a stand may be a problem because of dry soil. Stands are likely to be unevenly aged, making insect control more of a problem. Midge control is more difficult on late planting grain sorghum than on early planted. Corn earworms and sorghum webworm are likely to be bigger problems on late planted sorghum.

SOYBEAN INSECT CONTROL
With lots more soybeans planted this year and less cotton, bollworms are likely to move into soybean fields. These worms can be a big problem as they feed on young immature pods.

Keep a close watch on soybeans and if the worms do show up in damaging numbers, apply a recommended insecticide. In soybeans, the cotton bollworm becomes the soybean podworm.

HOME GARDENING
Sometimes it is difficult to get a stand of vegetables planted in dry soil. Here is a trick that can help get the plants up and growing. Open the seed drill about twice as deep as you would for spring planting. Fill the drill with water and let it soak in. Plant the seed. Cover with dry soil and firm with the back of hoe. Do not water again until the plants are up.

WASTEWATER WORKSHOPS

The Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission is conducting 15 three-day workshops for plant operators of wastewater treatment facilities in the State.

It is the Commission's goal to provide the opportunity for proper training for operators of all types of wastewater treatment facilities in the State.

The improper operation of a wastewater treatment plant can produce a discharge that may not meet State and Federal wastewater requirements. Regardless of the size and degree of treatment of a plant, a trained operator is essential in order to obtain a clean discharge.

Roberts Receives Suspended Sentence For Manslaughter

A ten-year suspended sentence, two years on probation, and a $3,000 fine, was imposed on Cecil Roberts, convicted by a special jury of manslaughter in the Dec. 8, 1972 shooting death of Leroy Dahl, Jr.

Circuit Judge Floyd Logan handed down the sentence Friday in a brief proceeding in the Hancock County court house, where a week earlier, the two-day trial had been held. Logan delayed sentence until Friday pending prosecution and defense pre-sentencing reports.

A special venire was called for the July 16-17 trial which claimed much local interest. Roberts was accused of shooting and killing Dahl, 19-year-old Bay St. Louis native, during an altercation between Dahl and Roberts' son, Carl Roberts' vindication for wearing the .38 revolver which killed Dahl was that he was a member of the Bay St. Louis auxiliary police, although Bay Police Chief William Carbonette testified that Roberts was not acting in the line of police duty at the time of the shooting incident.

The court further directed that all funeral and medical expenses incurred by the Dahl family be paid out of the $3,000 fine.

AGENTS ARREST SIX ...

Searching the wooded area nearby, Peterson and Bernard found David Roy Gavins, 20, Biloxi, Randy J. Koenenn, 19, Pass Christian, and Koenenn's 17-year-old brother.

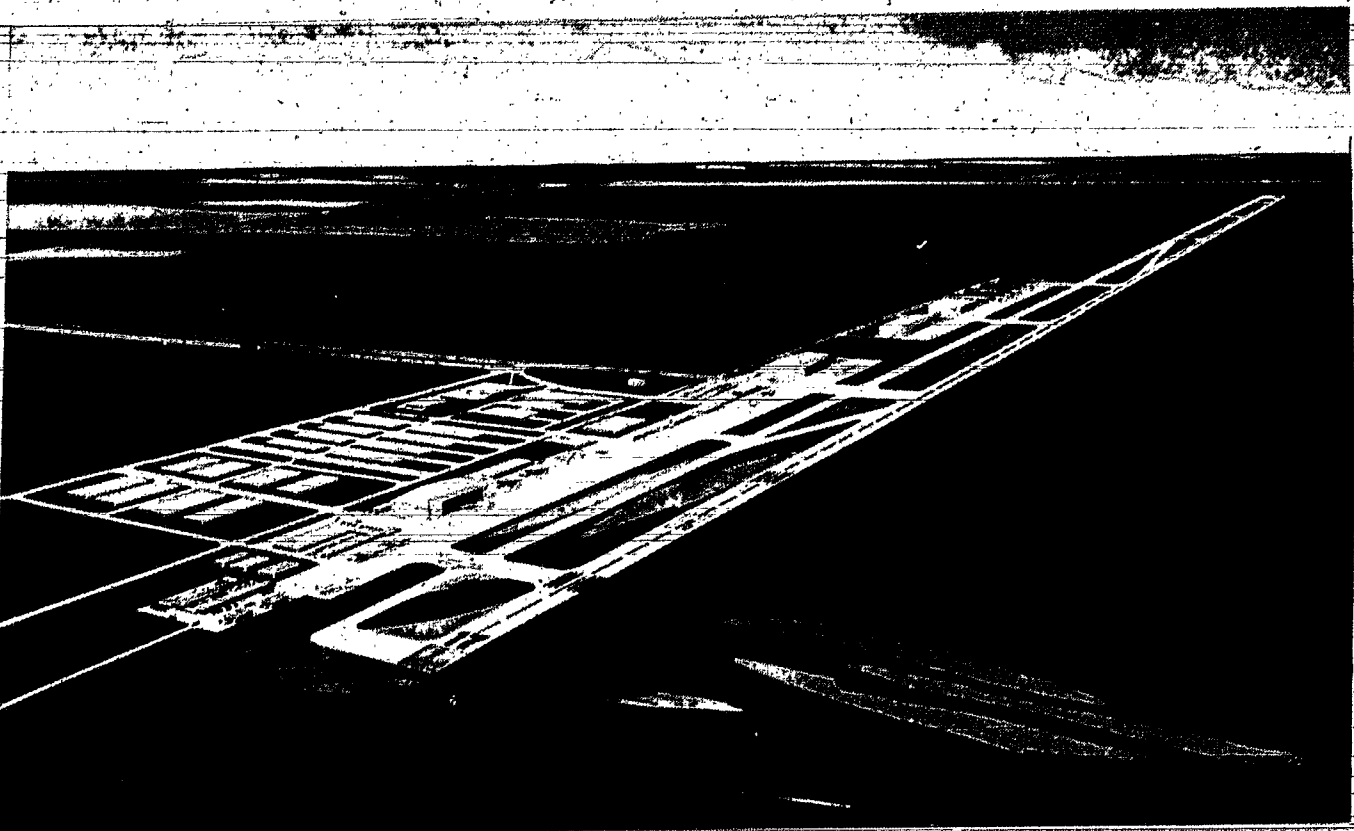

The three were taken to Hancock

County jail and each booked for trespassing and possession of marijuana.

In a Tuesday night hearing before Justice of the Peace Joe Dobson, Gavin and Koenenn pled guilty as charged and were each fined $200 for possession of marijuana and $50 for trespassing on private property.

The juvenile was turned over to Youth Court authorities.

CONSTRUCTION began Wednesday on the 4,000-foot runway extension project at Stennis International Airport, following a Tuesday pre-construction conference at the Port and Harbor Comm. office. Participating in the meeting were representatives of the Miss. Aeronautics Comm., Federal Aviation Administration, Port and Harbor Comm. and T. L. James Construction Co., prime contractor on the $2.2 million plus project. The architect's rendering above shows the present airport hanger, center, as well as proposed air terminal buildings and commercial sites at both ends of the 8,500-foot runway.

Veterans Statistics Disclosed

The following information submitted by Chester Curvey, Veterans Service Officer, was extracted from a report just received from the State Veterans Affairs Commission and should be of interest to all county residents.

The Veterans population for Hancock County broken down by service in the various wars as of June 30, 1971 (latest figures available) are—Viet Nam era 1,980; Korean Conflict—413; World War II 1,121; World War I—175; Service between Korea and Viet Nam—270.

The Veterans Administration expenditures in the county for the fiscal year 1972 is broken down as follows: Compensation and Pensions—$379,105; Vocational & Rehabilitation—$105,105; Insurance and Indemnity—$79,295, making a yearly total of $1,103,505.

All Veterans who have not done so are urged to have their military separation papers such as DD-214 or WD AGO Form 53-55 or Honorable Discharge recorded by the Chancery Clerk's Office as a permanent record. There is no charge for this service.

During the recent fire at the Nations Personnel Records center in Overland, Mo. many pre-1960 records are known to have been destroyed. Veterans who have ever filed a claim with the Veterans Administration or who have had their discharges permanently recorded in their county of residence should not be unduly affected by this unfortunate fire. Assistance in all Veterans Affairs can be had by calling 467-5404 or coming to the Veterans Service Office in the Court House.

Federal Program Starts

People already getting public assistance because they're 65 or over, or blind, or disabled do not have to apply now for Federal supplemental security income payments, according to Walter H. Hobbs, social security district manager in Gulfport.

"Some people getting State or local assistance misunderstand and are coming in to apply for supplemental security income—but they don't have to," Mr. Hobbs said. "We're taking applications now only from people who aren't getting public assistance but who think they may be eligible for the new Federal payments that start next year."

"People already getting State or local assistance don't have to do anything now about the supplemental security income program. They'll get more information and instructions later this year," he said.

People who need more information to decide whether they might be eligible for supplemental security income payments should call social security at 02015 Pass Road, Gulfport, Mississippi, according to Mr. Hobbs.

Miss Janet Faye Luxich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Luxich of Kiln, Miss., became the bride of Elmer David Wiggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wiggins, Bay St. Louis, Saturday, July 21, in an afternoon ceremony at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Very Rev. Gregory Johnson, pastor of Rev. L. Wilbourn, pastor Shifalo Memorial Baptist Church, Kiln, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. John McKenna, organist, played the traditional wedding marches, Love Story and We've Only Just Begun.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an antebellum-style silk organza fashioned with an Alencon lace bodice with high neckline and long sleeves reem-broidered in seed pearls and sequins. The full skirt, edged in Alencon lace embellished with pearls, fell into a train. Her floor length veil of illusion was trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Mona Sautier, Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Kathryn Dana, Long Beach, Miss., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Karen Burkes and Miss Diana Wiggins, sister of the groom, Bay St. Louis.

style dresses featuring short puffed sleeves and low round necks. Their wide brimmed white straw hats were trimmed with blue ribbon streamers and they carried white roses.

Acting as best man was the groom's brother, Jerry Wiggins. Groomsmen were Keith Johnson, Bay St. Louis, Tommy Kelly, New Orleans, and Nelius Favre, Bay St. Louis. Gary Wiggins, brother of the groom, and George Di Benedetto Jr., both of Bay St. Louis, served as ushers. Mark Brown was ringbearer.

The mother of the bride received their guests wearing a navy blue knit dress with red and white accessories and a yellow orchid corsage.

The mother of the groom chose a bone colored knit suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride's table, overlaid with a lace cloth, was centered with a three-tiered cake trimmed with white roses. Candelabra with white tapers and arrangements of daisies and greenery completed the table decorations.

BASIS OF AWARD

The award or awards, if made, will be made to the lowest qualified bidder on the basis of the published quantities on each individual road.

Plans and Specifications are on file in the office of the County Engineer of Hancock County, at Piquette, Mississippi, and the office of the Chancery Clerk at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

Plans and proposals may be secured from the County Engineer at P.O. Box 136, Piquette, Mississippi, upon payment of $15.00 which will not be refunded.

Certified check or bid bond for five percent (5 percent) of total bid payable to Hancock County must accompany each proposal. Bidders may bid on any or all of the proposed roads.

by Ann Stieffel 467-6300

Bay Waveland's team made a fine showing in the Sears Semi-Finals at Seabrook Sailing Club in Houston, Texas, July 27 and 28. Buzzy Heausler, skipper, and his crew Bobby Eagan and Chris Stieffel placed fourth overall, in spite of the loss of two firsts in unfavorable wind shifts, and two breakdowns, one in which the crew had to improvise with a paddle-splinted spinnaker pole.

The Semi-Finals winner was Buddy Brown of Houston Yacht Club with crew Paul Thompson and Paul Wells. Brown and Thompson were members of Clark Thompson's crew, who won the Sears Semi-Finals at Bay Waveland last year and went on to win the finals at Jackson-Yacht Club to become the 1972 North American Junior Sailing Champions.

Final standings in the Sears were: Houston Yacht Club, Skipper Buddy Brown, crew Paul Thompson and Paul Wells, 28 1/2 points. Fort Worth Boat Club, Skipper Glen Dardeh, crew Dale Stokdyk and Jack Horton, 24 1/2. Windcrest Sailing Club, Tulsa, Oklahoma, Skipper Jon Coleasure, crew Steve Elliot and Fred Elliot, 22 1/2.

Bay Waveland Yacht Club, Skipper Buzzy Heausler, crew Chris Stieffel and Bobby Eagan, 22 1/2. Pensacola Yacht Club, Skipper Bob Whitehurst, crew Tom Whitehurst and Billy Whitehurst, 17. Thunderbird Sailing Club, Norman, Oklahoma, Skipper, David Powell, crew Dean Lenz and Konrad Elk, 13.

The Bay Waveland team won the Shipshape Award which is presented to the crew who kept the boats in the best condition throughout the Series.

Woody Stieffel will sail in the Mallory Semi-Finals of the North American Men's Sailing Championship at Gulfport Yacht Club August 2-5. As winner of the Quarter-Finals at Biloxi Yacht Club earlier this season, Stieffel has qualified to represent the Gulf Yachting Association in this competition along with Dirk Lundquist of Pensacola Yacht Club who was second. Also competing in the Mallory Semi-Finals will be Clark Thompson of Houston Yacht Club, the 1972 Sears National Champion.

The results of the week-end races at BWYC are as follows: Saturday, July 28: JUNIOR RACE - Rod Stieffel, first, followed by Dennis Stieffel, Edgar Santa Cruz, Amy Chapman and John Gordon. EXPERT RACE - Marc Eagan, first, followed by Woody Stieffel, Pete Morrill, Lon Adams, Jack Gordon. A-CLASS - Ellen Eagan, first, followed by Mary Kergosien, Jim Holmes, Ted Holmes, Betty Ann Gordon. EXPERT RACE - Marc Eagan, first, followed by Harry Chapman, Pete Morrill, Charlie Staehle, Lon Adams. A-CLASS - Mimi Eagan, first, followed by Topsy Stieffel, Elizabeth Chapman, Ted Holmes, and Ed Turnipseed.

Sunday, July 29: JUNIOR RACE - Tracey Stieffel, first, followed by Peggy Chapman, Rod Stieffel, Ricky Flanders, and Randy Santa Cruz. EXPERT RACE - Woody Stieffel, first, followed by Don Chamberlain, Pete Morrill, Ray Stieffel, Woody Santa Cruz. A-CLASS - Mary Kergosien, first, followed by

Exam Open

Dr. Frank J. Morgan, Jr., Assistant State Health Officer for Licensure and Certification, announces the development of a proficiency examination for practical nurses who have received state licensure by waiver.

This new development is in accordance with Section 241 of Public Law 92-603. Dr. Morgan emphasized that "successful completion of this examination shall recognize waived LPN's as equivalent to graduate LPN's for Medicare-Medicaid purposes only."

The deadline for completing the application form is August 10, with September 21 scheduled for administering the national examination.

Any LPN interested in getting a form, or other information, should contact Mendal G. Kemp, Supervisor of Health Facilities Certification, Mississippi State Board of Health, P.O. Box 1700, Jackson, or by phone at 354-6684.

"This test will certainly make it possible for more LPN's to use their skills and will be a tremendous help to certified health facilities which need additional assistance."

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Think everything turned out alright for the past weekend as far as fishing was concerned. Outside of a few scattered showers fish were caught between the showers. That is mostly bass and perch. Some speckles and other salt water fish were also caught. Out front, from Cedar Point down to Bayou Caddy. Hard Crabs and a few soft crabs were also gotten. Ray Garner and Alden Mauffray caught bass by the fly rod and casting route. The winds have a lot to do with this type of fishing.

Was away for the week at Baton Rouge doing fishing and playing golf with my son, Luke and Sue his wife. Saturday we fished at Lake Feret area, Sherman, 4-mile Bayou and Cheramie which is near Pierre Port, La. A wonderful place catch to bass and perch. Was with Doctor Clifford Comeaux and Jimmy Dysart who are the best when it comes to casting with plugs. Doc also talks a good fishing story.

Played golf at Briarwood Country Club, where Tommy Martty is pro. His wife is Nancy who is also good at playing golf. The course is under minor repairs but is still a good course in excellent shape.

Another of our grandsons, John Baudry, won third place in the Grand Isle fishing rodeo over the week end with his King Mackerel which weighed 45 pounds, 12 ounces. He was the guest of Calvin Ferrar and son on the boat "Thunder Bend II."

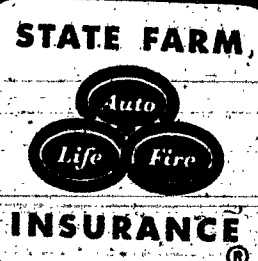

Missed seeing friend John Risloph, our hunting and fishing partner, who is vacationing in West Virginia.

Had the pleasure of using Grover Miller's golf clubs while in Baton Rouge. Left mine home. Thanks Buddy. Think golf is Grover's favorite sport.

Seems like this is a family column but can't help mentioning Roger Baudry, another grandson who won Scout Honors last weekend at the Scout V-Bar Ranch right here at Sellers, as the Honor Camper.

Lake Feret is 75 miles west and south of Baton Rouge. It is miles in length in swampy country. There is no tide trouble. Hundreds of boats invade this area on weekends. Most fishermen own boats with 30 H.P. Motors and up and travel like mad. Worse than dodging skiers down this way. Kinder hard on fishermen but the amount of fish there makes the difference. One can always find a fishing place along the banks, over grass and lily pads. It is part of the Morganza Spillway. We caught some big bass including a four pounder which we missed. Bass fishermen who love the sport can get plenty of it there. It is a wilderness from nowhere. Even had a large owl make a pass at our plug. Big frogs are plentiful.

Learned to be a bird watcher. The bird feeder in the back yard attracts all kinds of birds even squirrels which take over at times. Of course it is in the city limits which makes them safe. Saw more squirrels than seen ordinarily in the woods.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK Van Favard is an all-around sportsman and especially likes to fish and hunt. Van was a championship boxer in his younger days.

Another popular event coming up is the Empire South Pass Tarpon Rodeo, on August 16, 17 and 18th. Many of our local fishermen participate in this Rodeo. Two local men are co-chairmen of the rodeo. They are Eddie and Robert (Bob) Prest. For information about the Rodeo call 525-9928 in New Orleans. If you like deep-sea fishing this is your chance. The Rodeo has been a tradition for years.

J. Burton Angelle, director of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, announced that continued inspection of deer herds, browse surveys and other data accumulated by commission biologists during the past few weeks, fully indicates that Louisiana's deer herd in the flooded areas of the state came through the spring flooding of a large part of its habitat in fine shape.

"Early fears that large numbers of deer may have perished as a result of the spring floods, and spillway currents have not been borne out by field investigations," he said. "On the contrary, it has been determined that the majority of the deer in flooded areas escaped to high ground and survived what might have been a disaster."

Shows what protection will do for wild animals. Be a good sport when hunting. Do your part, it pays off in the long run. Throwing back small fish and crabs make for larger catches.
